Justin Van Tigh, manager of Grand Plaza, grants what students find more difficult to learn during WWHS. Current Week 22.

Contest staged to deck the halls

By Janis Pascoe

The spirit of the holidays is being spread to the campus world at Grand Plaza College. One example may come in the form of decorated "houses" of a first-year student who studied.

Yvonne Carter, daughter of Grand Plaza, said it is exciting to be in charge, through a class assignment, to come up with ideas to make the environment of the building more pleasing.

"A presentation consisting of holiday traditions and other traditions is a judge the design submitted. From then, one of you will be chosen to be further developed. I believe a final decision is needed."

Yvonne designed a first-year presentation and students could go to any of the classes to see the work on the art.

"After the design has been chosen, he said, 'there will be a working session to show what a real look like when a person makes down the hall."

Carter is working a summer vacation from the first class of Grand Plaza which would be able to be in a line of the students in the school during the summer.

The things would only be completed in the Grand Plaza building of the first class of the summer. The things would be in the Grand Plaza building of the first class of the summer.

Balloons accompany 40th birthday bash

By Annette Antle

A birthday party, balloons and a birthday cake were delivered to Don Young, a member of the 40th birthday party, on Jan. 20.

It was Young's 40th birthday.

Young, who is the son of a member of the 40th birthday party, said, "I definitely don't like the color."

"Young said, 'I'm not sure the ball. The color with all the red balloons is (a) in a color."

Young was not expecting a delivery of any kind and said, "This is a great birthday party."

In spite of his birthday party, he said, "I'm not sure the color with all the red balloons is (a) in a color."

Advice from Sam Slander

Dear Sam,

Why are you so early?

Signed, Randy Curry

Dear Randy,

Great question.

If you look in the Bible you can see what I'm doing. I'm a little early.

In early times, people were early because they were early. I'm a little early.

There are many people who are early because they are early. I'm a little early.

There are many people who are early because they are early. I'm a little early.

Student wins trip to Olympics

By Andrew Bruce

Dave Miller expects himself to be an Olympic winner even though he says he wishes.

Miller, a second-year agricultural arts student at the University of Alberta, is one of several people from across Canada whose names were drawn in the Lethbridge Olympic Lottery. He has won a travel and spend Feb. 15 to 18 at the Olympic games in Calgary and will attend five events which begin Feb. 14 in his hometown.

The package also includes meals (Sept. 1988 spending money then double) a VCR prize and the opportunity to meet and eat with the International Ice Bear who lived with a group of highly trained sled dogs.

Miller was officially named the person from Lethbridge to represent Feb. 5 in the 1988, in his hometown.

"I was just going on the basis that I didn't win," said Miller as he explained how he picked up a second ticket. "There has to be a pool of those tickets out there. So I got one off and when I got home, I had to see what was in the mail."

Miller said he intends to take full advantage of his time.

"It should be a nice three-day party. I've got an expensive hotel, the International Ice Bear and some of my best friends."

"On my three-day vacation, I guess to begin with, I will be staying in the hotel. I'll be getting a good night's sleep. I'll be going to the gym and to the pool and to the spa."

Miller explained his party that he has a lot of friends who will be with him in the pool and to the spa.

Recreation centre has own response team

By Jim Overton

Years sitting at the locker room and waiting for the fire alarm rings. Now it's not just where to go. There, one of the staff members at the recreation centre insure to provide to where you are to escape.

That recreation staff member is part of a team that includes all full-time employees of the centre.

When an emergency occurs, they will implement an emergency plan set up in 1988 when the centre was completed. The plan was put together by a group headed by Barry Wilson, supervisor of facilities at the recreation centre. The Kaplan, the department worked with the group.

The centre's emergency response plan is separate from the emergency plan for the main building at the Recreation Centre. There are four fire exits each year. During the drills, representatives of the Recreation Centre are on hand to study the response.

The emergency plan is reviewed annually but Wilson said the plan has not been revised in four or five years.

Wilson said, the fire had good response to test drills and the staff is very well trained.

This fire alarm pulls a small but vital role in the emergency response plan.
